

Berbers

WORD FOR THE DAY: DIALECT: A form of a language that differs a little bit from the formal language, but not enough to be considered a different language.

1. Let the students know that they are going to have to help Aisha's brother make a decision in this story, so they should listen carefully.
2. You might tell the students that Morocco is just a tiny channel away from Spain and Europe, and most of the Berbers live in the northern part of the country, so they are even closer to Spain than most Moroccans. It only takes 45 minutes to cross the strait by boat from Spain to Morocco.
3. Remind the students that the adjectives of "Islamic" and "Muslim" generally mean the same thing.
4. You might engage the students in a discussion about living in areas where you had to learn so many languages.
